ABSTRACT

We present a new technique for constructing and analyzing non-Markovian couplings for bounding the convergence rate of finite Markov chains. As an example, we use our theorem to reduce the threshold for efficiently sampling colorings of bounded-degree graphs.

This is joint work with Tom Hayes (University of Chicago).