

The University of Chicago
Department of Statistics

Master's Thesis Presentation

YI CHEN

Department of Statistics
The University of Chicago

Monte-Carlo Simulation Valuation of Cliquet Options

MONDAY, November 9, 2009, at 12:00 PM
110 Eckhart Hall, 5734 S. University Avenue

ABSTRACT

Cliquet options are at present the height of fashion in the world of equity derivatives. Several methods for valuing cliquet options are introduced. The Monte-Carlo simulation method is implemented in this article. The cliquet option sensitivity to volatility changes, time-to-reset changes and local cap changes is investigated.